Statement from the CEO

Sustainability is not a trend at elm-plastic GmbH — it is lived corporate responsibility, rooted in our history, embedded in our strategy, and carried by every single member of our team.

With this report, we present a complete, structured sustainability disclosure in accordance with the basic module of the Voluntary Sustainability Reporting Standard for SMEs (VSME) of the European Commission. It documents our performance across Environment, Social, and Governance — transparently, traceably and verifiably. The report is addressed to customers, business partners, financial institutions, rating agencies, and all other stakeholders with a legitimate interest in our ESG performance.

Our sustainability objectives are a fixed component of annual corporate targets and are systematically tracked and evaluated. The majority of defined measures have already been successfully implemented. This report serves as an accountability tool, enabling critical review and continuous improvement of the suitability, appropriateness and effectiveness of our actions.

We are especially proud of our pioneer role in the responsible and forward-looking use of plastics. With the business case “Bio-Pipette”, we demonstrate that a fully sustainable medical product is already a reality today — from certified bioplastics and recyclable secondary packaging through to carbon-neutral logistics. This concept has been scaled across a large portion of our product portfolio and is available immediately. We have moved from ambition to action.

This commitment is reflected in our certifications and ratings: as an EcoVadis Silver-awarded company, we rank among the Top 15 % of all assessed companies across the dimensions of Environment, Labour & Human Rights, Ethics, and Sustainable Procurement. As a member of the Zero Pellet Loss Initiative, we actively contribute to reducing microplastic pollution in the environment.

Sustainability at elm-plastic is not a staff function — it is a shared competence, anchored in our corporate DNA and lived by every team member. With this report, we ensure that we not only meet the growing regulatory requirements and the ESG expectations our customers place on their suppliers, but — as a mid-sized company — consciously exceed them.

We invite you to form your own impression.

Compliance with Legal Requirements

As part of maintaining and continuously improving our management systems, elm-plastic GmbH has established a structured compliance assurance framework, including the following key elements:

- regular internal audits,
- systematic inspections of relevant operational areas conducted by the occupational safety specialist (SiFa),
- periodic site inspections performed by the Quality and Environmental Committee.

These monitoring and control mechanisms ensure the ongoing identification, evaluation, and fulfillment of applicable legal requirements.

Based on this structured approach, elm-plastic GmbH confirms that, as of the reporting date, no violations of applicable environmental regulations have been identified.
